Editor's note

Letters have wonderful power and radiance than any other thing in this world. They combine in different forms and patterns to delight us with wonderful thoughts. To play with letters is a skill moreover a mastery over words can change one's destiny. Over the centuries we have had great orators who could change the world and lead the mob towards salvation and enlightenment. To speak, to write, to draw and to dream are the ultimate skills a child achieves from an educational scenario and that the world really needs. Hope these pages embellished with various articles both in verbal and in hues may delight the spectator who awaits for it. Though nature gave some horrible challenges to face in this year, we stride over together to excellence because we have promises to keep before we sleep and miles to go before we sleep.
